

Planning the transition to the New Pension Scheme

On 1 January 2027, Pensioenfonds PDN plans to switch to the new pension scheme. This is a long and meticulous process. In October, the Board took the formal decision required for this purpose. At the end of October, the Board established all of the documents underpinning this decision. These documents have now been submitted to De Nederlandsche Bank (DNB). DNB will assess whether, in its opinion, the rationale is adequate and whether it is a balanced decision for all of the different groups of participants involved. In the experience of other pension funds with DNB, DNB may request changes to be made to the Board's decision. Over the course of next year, we will know whether this also applies to Pensioenfonds PDN.

Interview with Piet Rennen, Pensioenfonds PDN board member

'The strength of balanced decisions'

What does a saucepan have to do with your pension? More than you think!

If we switch to the new pension scheme and the pension fund's financial position is good enough, Pensioenfonds PDN can increase everyone's pension pot. This is also known as the 'transition bonus'. But how do we ensure that this increase is granted in a way that is fair to everyone?

We discussed this with Piet Rennen, board member of Pensioenfonds PDN. He understands the complexity of pension decisions. In a place steeped in history – using a saucepan as a metaphor – he speaks about the impact of the Board's complex governance decision on different groups of participants. He also speaks about the Board's deliberations to make a correction to the request submitted by the social partners to transfer accrued pension entitlements.
